

Tall Tale

Hanson has been running his donut shop for sixteen years. His customers love his Glazed, Chocolate, Cream Filled, Custard Filled, and Pumpkin Spice donuts. The only problem was that he was losing customers because he couldn't seem to invent any new donuts. Sitting at the cash register in his 20 foot x 10 foot empty shop, Hanson pondered at the fact that it was seriously empty. The restaurant across the street, Kaelin's, was hopping with people all day. Kaelin had invented a "Cheeseburger". He looked across the busy road and noticed the hundreds of people comfortably lounging in his small burger shop, and shot a glance at the paradise they held in their hands. The idea hit Hanson in the face like a bug on a windshield! He would invent a donut burger; the regular ingredients between a DONUT! It was brilliant, and he would get loads of customers!

Making a fresh new batch of original donuts was the first thing on his mind. Second, Hanson took his huge hole puncher and made his donut holes. It took a longer time to obtain the burgers because he had no clue how much grease he needed, or what temperature to set it on, or even the kind of cheese that he needed! After producing the perfect donut burger, he ordered a mega grill that would be able to flip a hundred burgers!

Hanson jumped up the ladder to his "Donut Boy" sign and tied the new banner to the sign to advertise his new hit! It read, "SWEET SURPRISE!!! The burger of a life time! COME TRY A DONUT BURGER!" As he put the sign up, Hanson became so blissful that he cried a river of sparkling tears that ran down the street. People saw the brilliant sign and jumped up to go see the new delight. They trampled over each other to get there. Some anxious people even slipped in his river! Finally a billion people packed into his donut shop waiting to be served a "Sweet Surprise"! While waving their paper bills in the air, each person was served a donut burger. It was an ENORMOUS success for Hanson! This also triggered the down fall for Kaelin's Diner in which a brick over 9,000 pounds was dropped on his building.

Hanson had dreamed high and got exactly what he wanted with perseverance!

His Donut Burgers were a massive SUCCESS!

Works Cited

Ehler, James T. "Cheeseburger." 1990-2008. <http://www.foodreference.com/html/fcheeseburger.html>

Acme Brick. "Introducing Baby Clay." 4 July 2007. <http://www.brick.com/bigbrick/index.htm>

Krispy Kream. "Krispy Kream Bacon Cheddar Cheeseburger." 30 June 2008.
<http://www.flickr.com/photos/ccaviness/2625223578/>